

Awbrey Moffett is a Program Facilitator at TotalLink to Community. She brings over seven years of nonprofit experience across community development, youth programming, public health, and advocacy.

Before joining TotalLink, Awbrey facilitated entrepreneurship and STEM programs for youth, where she built strong relationships with participants and community partners. Most recently, she supported residents in affordable housing communities through health-focused programming, resource coordination, and data-driven initiatives. She is passionate about equity, access, and creating meaningful connections that strengthen communities.

Awbrey earned her Bachelor of Arts in Environment, Society, and Sustainability from the University of Colorado Denver. Outside of work, she is a stained glass artist and enjoys spending time outdoors, bringing creativity and a love of nature into all that she does.
