Chief Human Resources Officer
First Bank Chicago

Lisa Nichols is the Chief Human Resources Officer for First Bank Chicago and a Board Member for TotalLink to Community. Throughout her career, she has supported and partnered with various business teams in financial services, real estate, consulting, and service organizations. Her experience includes domestic and international roles, and she has both led various HR teams and partnered with a host of executive leaders throughout her 20+ year career. Among the companies she has worked with include Keller Williams, Citigroup, Hewitt Aon, Hyatt Hotels, and other financial services organizations. During her career, she has made time to always give back to the communities she works and lives in to help drive positive changes. She has volunteered with several non-profits such as Habitat for Humanity, March of Dimes, American Corporate Partners, Junior Achievement and Associated Colleges of Illinois. In addition, she has served as a HR Liaison for Employee Networks and Resource Groups at a number of companies, supported business roundtables, and has moderated and participated on a number of panels. She enjoys mentoring inside and outside the companies where she has worked. In her community, she has been involved with the Skokie school district where she has previously served on the PTA for her son's elementary school and helped with the selection committee for the district 68 board and superintendent positions. In her spare time, she can be found spending quality time enjoying activities, food and travel with her family and close friends.
